Corporate and foundation grants allow Juniata to complete or enhance projects such as adding solar energy capabilities to the Raystown Field Station and building the von Liebig Center for Science. Grants also help us introduce collaborative curriculum such as the Genomics Leadership Initiative. Strong participation makes Juniata more competitive for these grants.

Our current participation rate is 28%, which falls below the 30% level that would help our ranking and granting competitiveness. If every alum who has given at any time in the past five years gave this year, we would reach 50% participation, and be among the strongest in participation in the country.
